Programs On Operating During a Pandemic:

"We're seeing more family enrollment; families are saying, 'we're in a pandemic, I need more support.'"

"Being able to come through for them is helping them to build the initial trust, and us having the connections in the community to resources is a way we are building trust."

Children & Family Trust Fund Programs

"I like that I can have somebody I trust to confide in whenever I need to and I love how I feel cared about."

Supporting Families Right From the Start

Healthy Families New York (HFNY) is an evidence-based home visiting program offering services to expectant and new parents, beginning weekly and decreasing over time, until the child starts school or Head Start. HFNY is open to first-time parents, as well as parents with multiple children, who are pregnant and/or have at least one child less than 3 months old.

HFNY is relationship-based, trauma-informed, culturally humble, family centered, and strength-based. Home visitors develop healthy relationships with families and partner with parents to support them in responding in a sensitive and in a nurturing manner to their young children through various program activities.

Strengthening Families and Communities

OCFS also funds additional community-based child abuse prevention programs. These include Family Resource Centers, home visiting programs, parenting education programs, and clinical family support programs that are evidence-based or evidence-informed.

They work in partnership with other community agencies and parents to assist families in their caregiving roles, strengthen informal supports, offer resources directly or through referrals, and promote community investment. These services build on protective factors that research shows can reduce child abuse and neglect.
